

This is a highly inclusive show where everyone gets involved! It requires lots of energy, imagination, and creativity! There may be opportunities for improvisation and moments to highlight accents/special skills/unique & quirky facial expressions, etc. So, show us your range of creativity. Please select one monologue from below and have it as prepared as possible so we can see your best!

--

Alice:

Wait!...the riddle... I understand it now. “Why is a raven like a writing desk?” ... There is no right answer...which also means, there is no wrong answer. It’s like life. The point is to keep looking. My childhood memories had never truly left me, so they couldn’t have been truly lost. And dreams – they come from imagination. This place – this is a dream – and I’m here because I needed to learn for myself that I am responsible, which also means, I am in charge. You have no power, Hatter, and your anger and greed will never be a part of me again.

Chloe/Young Alice:

Mom, Dad!! Come look! The rain-it’s turned to snow. Do you hear it against the windowpane? How nice and soft it sounds, just as if someone was kissing the window all over outside. I wonder if the snow loves the city... touching the buildings and streets so gently? Quietly covering it up, snug, you know, with a white quilt.

Jack/White Knight:

Maybe you are on a quest to find more than just a doll. The only way out now, is to follow them in. It will be difficult. You will have to eliminate all her players first. But you are stronger than you think you are. I will stay right by your side, we all will, no matter what. You have to trust you can do this – I know you will be a great commander. I love you, Allie. I always have. And I always will.

Everheart/Queen of Hearts:

Miss CornSprinkle! Have you lost your mind??? No one is allowed to "bend," "skew," or otherwise manipulate the rules except the Queen, and to be made Queen, you would need to win games at Squared Court by conquering the Eighth Square.

(ALICE tries to interject but the WHITE KNIGHT stops her.)

Furthermore, your disregard for the value of someone that is lost will never be tolerated, and I dare say, that little lost child must be quite a treasure BECAUSE she is lost!

(A declaration)

There will be no more proposals from ANYONE until that which is lost, is found!!!

(gavel)

Maddie Quizzle/Mad Hatter:

I know my little guinea pig...it is a shame, but your older self is in my way. Once your memories are erased, it will leave permanent holes in the brain of my soon-to-be-even-tho-she-doesn't-know-it-yet opponent, making my certain to win at Squared Court, and you see, I have to win. All I have to do now is get the Queen to call for games! Sayonara "Liddell" girl. Morris! Throw the switch!!

Richard Hopper/Rabbit:

Cheese and crackers! I don't know!! All I know is that Wonderland is in chaos, the Mad Hatter is M-A-D mad, and the Queen is getting ready to lop off heads left and right and wrong. And now, I'm late!! Oh, won't she be savage if I've kept her waiting! I am as done as done. Finished, kaput, ended, over. Looks at watch Well, no wonder I'm always late. This thing is running backwards. If it gets to where we started before this is over it will be the death of us all.

Tyrell/Caterpillar:

Whom you seek, you may find, holds the key to a back door, or could that be, a door to go back? "Why is a Raven like a Writing Desk?" That's the Riddle of the Ages... Solve that, and it may solve all your problems. Do you like riddles? Here take these and call me in the morning. A few tears might just get you back to "normal" But, be careful not to drown!

Jose/El Gato:

El Gato believes that every day is lost in which we have not laughed at least once. You don't know much, do you? I need you to answer me a riddle: "Why is a Raven like a writing desk?" Hmmm, don't know that one? Here's a good one! "What is full all day and empty all night?" Take these magic dancing shoes! Trust them, and they'll take you where you want to go.

Mo/Morris:

Rude all the rest of the time-Lazy, crazy, super-hazy, doesn't look both ways, doesn't look either way, doesn't look period. Doesn't see, doesn't hear, doesn't help, doesn't wait, doesn't listen, doesn't talk, doesn't speak when spoken to, doesn't play well with others, doesn't like others, doesn't like herself, doesn't know why she's here, doesn't like the game, doesn't get the game, doesn't play the game, doesn't play well with others-